

Dear colleagues and friends,

The Institute of Social and Political Opinion research (ISPO) is pleased to invite you to the symposium 'General Topics in Qualitative Research' in Leuven (Belgium), on March 27.

ISPO will host lectures by Prof. David Collier (U.C. Berkeley), Prof. Gary Goetz (University of Arizona) and Prof. John Gerring (Boston University). Each of these internationally renowned scholars will address vital, but not often considered, issues in qualitative research design. David Collier will discuss causal inference, Gary Goetz will speak about social science concepts, and John Gerring will present topics in case selection and case study.

Entrance is free, but registration is mandatory. To register, e-mail to delphine.hesters@soc.kuleuven.be before March 24.

More information can be found on the flyer in attach and on the website of ISPO:
